LEGISLATORS AT HARRISBURG WRANGLE OVER VEXING TAXATION PROBLEM; CHARGE GOV. WITH CREATING FALSE IMPRESSION

Harrisburg, Pa., April 12.—The whole question of taxation burst out on the floor of the House of Representatives today in an irregular and unexpected debate, which continued as member after member arose and presented heated views on the subject.

Governor Pinchot was charged by Representative Alexander of Delaware with the responsibility for the present taxation tangle. Alexander said the Governor had created a false public impression of the situation and unless Pinchot 'came out in the open" no taxation bill will pass the House.

The manufacturer's tax was put forward by other members as the one solution of the financial problem confronting the Legislation.

Representative Ogle of Somerset, said the Ways and Means Committee was groping in the darkness, looking for help. "I call upon the manufacturers as patriotic citizens of the state," shouted Ogle, "to come to the rescue."

Representative Ludlow of Montgomery, long regarded as one of the Administration's leaders of the House, declared he had an open mind on the proposal of the manufacturers tax. "We should not be bound by the precedence of forty years, nursed by a managed lobby," said Dudlow.

WILL SELL POPPIES ON MEMORIAL DAY

New York, April 12.—Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in more than a thousand Posts throughout the United States, Philippines, Hawaii, Canal Zone and France will sell poppies on Memorial Day to serve a two fold purpose; a visible sign of homage to our service dead and a means of financially assisting disabled former service men. The Poppy Campaign, which this year will be conducted by Captain Robert B. Handy, Jr., Inspector-General of the veterans' organization, is an annual feature of V. F. W. activity. Last year much worthy relief work was done with the money received from the sale of the memorial flower.

FOOL KILLER FAILING TO COME, TO SCRATCH HELEN MAYER'S HEAD

Cleveland, Ohio, April 12.—Miss Helen Mayer completing her forty-six hour contest dancing declared after a second olive oil massage today that she never felt better in her life and could dance ten more hours.

The record of fifty hours and two minutes set by Alma Cummings in New York appears in jeopardy.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 12.—Miss Helene Mayer, aged twenty-one became holder of a record for dancing. At 11:27 a. m. she passed the mark of fifty hours, two minutes established by Alma Cummings of New York. Miss Mayer started dancing at 9:35 a. m. Tuesday. She took time out of three minutes every seven hours, how ever.

ROTARY CLUB MEET WILL BE ENJOYABLE

The Clearfield Rotary Club will hold its regular meeting at the Hotel Jordan at 5 o'clock this evening. The address of the evening will be made by Albert Kerr, former Clearfielder, but now a highly successful Washington, D. C., attorney.

Motion pictures of the Clearfield Sewer Pipe Works in action and a lecture on the clay industry around Clearfield will be given. For the purpose of showing "official Clearfield" how sewer pipe is manufactured and what an asset the sewer pipe plant is to our town, Supt. Samuel L. Warner has invited the borough council to attend the meeting and incidentally dine with him as his guests.

TAMMANY MAN IS VICTIM OF AUTO

New York, April 12.—Thomas F. Smith, for twenty-eight years Secretary of Tammany Hall was fatally injured by a taxicab here last night and died there hours later of a fractured skull and other hurts.

Wm. B. Mulligan, aged twenty-eight, driver of the taxicab was arrested, charged with homicide.

Smith was regarded as one of the most powerful men in the famous Democratic organization.

George I. Thurston, of the Workman's Cash Grocery Company, is in Reading today on a business trip.

Mrs. Callie Bagley and daughter of Altoona, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Schiefer on West Front street at present.

YELLOW DOGS WILL RUN RAMPANT THRU OLD CLEARFIELD THIS EVENING; COL. MACK KUHN GIVES HIS OFFICIAL PERMISSION

A kennel of Yellow Dogs will be instituted in Clearfield tonight, the services incident thereto starting promptly at 8:16 o'clock or the exact instant at which the Dog Star begins his nightly barking at the moon.

This ancient, aforesaid, transcendental and high sounding titled organization is native to Central Pennsylvania and is not alone a name but a conglomeration to conjure with.

The organization owed its original being to old King Tut, whose peaceful slumbers were recently disturbed after 3500 years in far off Egypt. The original charter membership list was discovered by the late Lord Carnarvon when he kicked old Tut out of his long but not last resting place. Some say that when Carnarvon gave Tut the jolly old kick in the ribs he so angered the evil spirits left to guard the tomb that one of them up and stung him, said sting resulting in Mr. Lord's death.

That may be so but never having been "stung" we are not going to attempt to pass upon that point, but we have upon the authority of the Chief Yellow Dog Cub in charge of the hostilities at tonight's function that Lord Carnarvon's demise was due solely and entirely to a bite on the calf of his leg from the spirit of the first Yellow Dog interred with King Tut's chariot for the express purpose of guarding the secret records and work of this ancient and honorable order, who got in his work before any of the stingaree's on guard could unlimber a single stinger.

Meanwhile and because of the important function which will bring more than twenty-five visiting Yellow Dogs from a neighboring town to put on the work, or "the works" on the candidates, Chairman Ellis of the public property committee of council has arranged to have those posts in front of the hose house not only properly decorated but lighted for the occasion so the four-footed visitors will have no trouble in searching them out when their first aid is requisite.

Col. Mack Kuhn has given his word of honor, and will give his note on demand, not to harm a single hair on the back of any Yellow Dog for the 24 hours beginning at the eighth hour this evening. After the expiration of the time limit let all beware.

YOUNG LAWYER GETS 30 DAYS IN JAIL ON CONTEMPT CHARGE

Brookville Attorney Refuses to Testify When Called As Witness In Murder Trial.

GETS $25 FINE ALSO

Brookville, Pa., April 12.—Cadmus Gordon, a young law student of the University of Pennsylvania and a member of one of Jefferson county's prominent families, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $25 for contempt of court for refusing to testify in a murder trial here.

Gordon was called by the prosecution to testify in the second trial of James Pugliese, charged with the murder of Sylvester Corbzi. Pugliese was convicted last July but was granted a new trial after Gordon asserted the trial was conducted improperly.

FIRST SNAKE STORY COMES TO HAND

Hazelton, Pa., April 12.—A conductor on the Wilkes Barre and Hazelton Railway got in the first snake story of the season. He says his car killed five copper head snakes, ranging five inches to eighteen inches long as they basked in the sun on the tracks.

ASK WOMEN VOTERS CONVENTION TO PASS UPON HARDING PLAN

Des Moines Ia., April 12.—A resolution endorsing President Harding's plan for participation of the United States in the International Court of Justice was introduced by Miss Ruth Morgan, Chairman of the National Council for Prevention of War at today's session of the National League of Women Voters' Convention. The resolution will lay in committee twenty-four hours before action is taken.

BOOZE BANDITS, IN TRAIN HOLDUP, GET AWAY WITH BIG HAUL

Peoria, Ill., April 12.—Fourteen armed and masked bandits held up a Santa Fe freight train near here for nearly two hours at midnight and escaped with more than thirty thousand dollars worth of liquor and alcohol.

Four of the robbers boarded the train as it pulled out of Pekin and forced the engineer and train crew to stop at Crandall Crossing, where the other ten awaited with trucks.

While the confederates kept the trainmen lined up, the cars containing the liquor were broken into and the loot loaded on the trucks. Firing a volley into the air, the bandits drove away. Posses lead by Sheriff Newhaus are in pursuit.

STATE POLICE MAKE A FINE RECORD FOR YEAR; ARREST 14,246

Harrisburg, April 11.—Two of the 14,246 persons arrested by State Police during 1922 were sentenced to death, according to a report of the disposition of persons arrested during the year made public by police headquarters here today.

Of the total, 1,416 were discharged with 99 paroled, 116 released on reprimand and 58 with sentences suspended. Penitentiary terms of from one to 25 years were imposed on 225. Five year terms were given 47; 10 years to 60; 20 years to 15 and 25 years to eight.

Eighteen died while under arrest and six were deported. Disposition of some of the other classes was: Jail, 1,098; insane asylum, 48; costs, 1,774; fined 434; costs and fine, 3,896 work house, 168; violated bail, 178.

DUBOIS STUDENT FATALLY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Sheldon Brown, Honor Student at University, and Richard Sweet, Victims of Collision.

HAD FRIENDS HERE

Sandusky, O., April 11.—Richard Sweet, of Battle Creek, Mich., and Sheldon Brown, of DuBois, Pa., both students at the University of Michigan, were fatally injured this afternoon three miles west of Monroeville, when their automobile crashed into another car.

Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Brown, of Peru, O., occupants of the other automobile, were rendered unconscious but not severely injured. Sweet and Brown, it was said, were enroute to Pennsylvania. Sweet died in an ambulance enroute to a Norwalk hospital, and Brown died at the hospital.

The above telegram will be read with general regret this morning, conveying as it does the death of a young man very well known in DuBois, and a student of unusual worth at the University of Michigan, where he would have graduated this spring.

No details of the accident are known by relatives in DuBois. The first intimation of the accident was received by Mrs. Byron D. Johnson, mother of Mr. Brown, who was apprised of the fact that an accident had occurred and particulars could be learned from a doctor at Norwalk, O. Mrs. Johnson called up the doctor and was told that her son had just died the hospital.

Mr. Brown had written home that he would not be in DuBois for the Easter vacation, but expected to take a trip with Richard Sweet, the young man who was also killed in the accident. It is presumed that the young men were on their way back to the University when the accident occurred.

Sheldon Brown was 23 years of age and was a young man of great promise. At the university he was regarded as unusually brilliant, an honor student, and one who participated generally in student activities. As such he was honored by being elected to various positions of responsibility.

Here in DuBois Mr. Brown was generally known and greatly liked because of his many sterling qualities.

It is probable that the remains will be brought home for burial, Mrs Johnson having left for Norwalk to make these arrangements.

SECOND W. VA. MAN TO GET FIRST DEGREE MURDER VERDICT

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 12.—The death sentence today was passed on Phil Connisarro, the second of eleven alleged leaders in the West Virginia Crime Syndicate to be condemned to hang for complicity in the murder of Frank Naples.

Prosecutor Morris of Harrison County said he would announce shortly the third defendant to be tried in connection with more than a dozen murders and acts of violence in West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania in the last three years.

FRIDAY, THE THIRTEENTH TOMORROW—LOOK OUT!

Beware, the jinx!

Friday, the thirteenth is tomorrow!

Ye victims of superstition pallid and trembling, will slink along their ways seeking to dodge the omens of the witch's cauldron of "trouble, trouble, boil and bubble" which legend credits to the ill-fated combination.

For once the black cat as a sign of bad luck will lose its potency for many will seek them to offset the double jinx of the day. Even some of the unbelievers have been waiting for the event as one which bears good fortune for new enterprises.

SECRETARY HOOVER VOICES HARDING PLAN FOR AMERICA'S GOING INTO WORLD COURT—NECESSARY TO ESTABLISH PEACE

Secretary of Commerce Claims Permanent Court of International Justice Was "Made In America," Instead of Invention of Diplomats of Old World, and We Should Go In.

MUST ELIMINATE ALL CAUSES OF WAR

Washington, D. C. April 12.—The subject of the final decision as to whether America shall enter the League of Nations is being seriously considered by officials of the Harding Administration, a member of the Cabinet stated today. The question is being studied upon this basis.

First—Should the United States join the League in carrying out plans to take definite steps in association with other Nations to prevent war.

Second—If so, upon what terms should the League be entered.

Des Moines, Ia., April 11.—American membership in the permanent Court of International Justice, organized by the League of Nations, was advocated by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover here tonight as "an essential step" in the direction of world peace.

Those who have opposed membership in the league itself, he said, need not hang back from participation in the court nor fear political entanglements through its operation. He replied directly to criticisms by Senator Borah of Idaho, who, he declared, really wanted now to go "further" than the American people were willing to follow him.

Secretary Hoover spoke before the annual convention of the National League of Women Voters and his address was the first detailed reply from administration quarters to those who have assailed the court proposal since it was laid before the Senate by President Harding. It marked the beginning of the public debate in which most of the leading public men of the country are preparing to take part.

Not Entering League.

To go into the court, Mr. Hoover said would not be "entering the league in any sense." On the contrary, he argued, it would aid in placing international relationships on a basis of law rather than politics and would at the same time continue the American policy of conciliation and good will exemplified in the arms conference and in recent relations with Latin America.

He continued:

The proposals to join the court have been criticised from various angles. The first of these is that it leads us into some undescribed political entanglement. This is untrue, for the decrees of the international court are based upon the process of law, not upon political agreement, their enforcement rests wholly on public opinion and not upon force. In supporting this court, we subscribe to no compulsion whatever. Compulsion is in fact specifically excluded. We do not need to submit any case to the court unless we feel like doing so at the time the case arises.

Can't Be Summoned.

No other nation can summon us into court except with our consent. The court itself cannot summon us in, nor in any manner or degree exart upon us any kind of compulsion, not even moral. Our proposal to enter the court and the act of adhesion to it which President Harding has asked, is based upon the assumption that compulsion is not necessary for peoples of good will and a sense of justice.

It is true that part of the other nations in joining this court have joined it in a slightly stronger degree. These other nations have been moved either because they have greater faith in the processes of international co-operation than America is able to show in its present mood of distrust, or else because harsh suffering has made them more fearful to the menace of war.

Makes Only Two Promises.

But the adhesion which President Harding proposes to the international court is strictly limited by carefully drawn stipulations which will no doubt be fully considered by the Senate. All we do if we ratify President Harding's proposal—all the promises we make—the only obligations we take are these and only these:

We promise to pay a share of the running expenses of the court, a matter less than $40,000 a year; and we promise to take part with 46 other nations in the choosing of the judges. The judges are men of international reputation who sit nine years and are freed of all prejudice except to maintain principle and law.

Connection With League Remote.

There is another section of opponents of President Harding's proposal who condemn the idea, not because they do not agree to its primary purpose and method, but solely because it was created under the auspices of the League of Nations. But we are not by this act entering the League in any sense. The connection of the court with the League is indeed remote. Its sole relationship is that the judges are elected as provided in its own statute, not by the League itself, by the representatives of the nations to the League acting as an electoral body for this purpose. It is this elective body that we join, not the League.

To some people the League is such anathema that even its many good aims are bad. Let us admit frankly that there are among our people many thousands perhaps hundreds of thousands, who, as regards the phrase "League of Nations" are still under the tyranny of emotions associated with that phrase during the political controversy of the last four years. It is unhappily true that in such controversies a phrase is given an emotion which disturbs the orderly march of entirely dissociated ideas. What they would willingly assent to as a thing standing by itself they shrink from merely because it has association with a phrase.

Court Already in Existence.

There are a few people who apparently maintain an open mind on international co-operation by rearrangement of their prejudices. The court is already in existence. It is largely the handiwork of American thought and American hands. For us to insist upon its being torn down and re-erected just because it was created by a conference called by the League (in which Americans took part) is one of the most unseemly suggestions of national selfishness that can be conceived.

Another section of the opponents of President Harding's proposal condemn it because it does not go far enough, because it has no teeth in it. This is the basis of Senator Borah's objection. I admit the enlightenment and the courage of his position. He would have an international court of such strength that it would try war itself and would have us join it in such a manner that we would be obligated to its jurisdiction. Senator Borah's international court in its relation to the nations would be somewhat an analogy to the Supreme Court of the United States in its relation to our states.

Now by all means let us have no quarrel—on the contrary let us have admiration and respect—for those who show the vision and courage to go this whole distance. But let us admit that as a practical matter, for reasons familiar to all of you, America is not ready to go this far.

HEAD OF WHOLESALE GROCERY FIRM GETS DEATH CALL ON TRAIN

William H. Lauderbach, of Lauderbach-Zerby Co., Expires Suddenly Near Pittsburgh.

Philipsburg, Pa., April 12.—William H. Lauderbach, president of the Lauderbach-Zerby Company, one of the leading wholesale grocery firms in Western Pennsylvania, with the main offices and warerooms at Philipsburg, died early yesterday morning just west of Pittsburgh, as he was being hurried in a special car to his home in Hazelton in the hope that the death angel might find him in his own home.

For more than two months the financier, who was about 71 years of age, had been in failing health and several weeks ago he went to Hot Springs, Ark., in the hope that his health might be built up. He declined steadily, however, and when it was realized that the end was near he was hurried homeward. Shortly after midnight death came to him as the train sped eastward a few miles out of Pittsburgh. The body was taken to the home in Hazelton where funeral services will be held Saturday.

The deceased was one of Western Pennsylvania's most prominent capitalists. One of the organizers of the Lauderbach-Barber Company more than 25 years ago he was its first president and retained the presidency after it became the Lauderbach-Zerby Company. He had many other interests including coal, the manufacture of shoes, etc., For several years he was the leading citizen in Hazelton.

He leaves his widow and a family of grown sons and daughters.

He was a member of the Masonic order and a leader in church work in his home community. He visited Philipsburg only periodically but those who knew him here esteemed him greatly.

The death of his partner, R. H. Zerby, occurred only three months ago.

FREE STATE TROOPS BAG IRISH REBELS

London, April 12.—The Countess Markiewicz, Count Plunkett, Miss MacSwinney and Liam Lynch's brother, four of the most prominent remaining rebels, were captured today by Free State troopers in Tipperary, according to dispatches from Clomel.

Curwensville's Own Column

Robert Addleman, one of the town's most prosperous local coal operators, made a business trip to Ridgway on Tuesday.

The body of Isaac Stage was brot to Curwensville yesterday afternoon and interred in the Oak Hill cemetery. The procession was an unusually large one, showing conclusively that he had been a citizen of worth and integrity.

Miss Nell Leech, manager of the Kantar & Sons State street store has been confined to her home for several days past by illness. Miss Syke will conduct the business during her absence.

Edward S. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Scofield street, and Miss Edith A. Glace, daughter of Mrs. Albert Jury, were united in wedlock Tuesday evening, April 10th, by Justice of the Peace John A. Dale the ceremony being performed at his residence on River street. The newlyweds will make their home in Curwensville for the time being.

The Philadelphia Merchandise Company, purchasers of the L. G. Vaughn store at receiver's sale, are selling out the entire stock piecemeal.

The sheriff posted a sale sign on the Pennsylvania Auto Service Corporation building yesterday, stating that pumps, tanks, chairs and all personal effects of the defendants were to be sold.

The Kantar & Sons Filbert street store which was robbed on Sunday night was considerable of a loser as some twenty suits of clothes are missing from the stock. Entrance was made at a side window by forcing the snap on top of the lower sash. A number of coat hangers were found in the alley at the rear of the building. No hint or clue as to who performed the feat has been ascertained as yet, and probably never will be unless it was an amateur job.

Mick Richards, who was in that auto smashup at the Kirk corner Tuesday evening was more severely injured than was at first supposed. It is reported that one of his hips was dislocated. The lower corner of the Kirk porch was thumped and damaged a trifle.

Watt H. Thompson, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Walter Shuttleworth, arrived in Curwensville yesterday forenoon from Williamsport, to attend the funeral of Mrs. R. H. Brainard, Mr. Thompson's sister. The body arrived from Missouri last evening, coming over the Pennsylvania and accompanied by her nephew, Wm. TenEyck, who was born in this town, but left for the west with his parents when he was but two years old.

MILLIONS OF NURSERY TREES TO BE SHIPPED

Harrisburg, Pa., April 11.—District Forester William F. Dague, of Clearfield, reports that approximately two and a quarter million trees will be shipped from the Clearfield nursery this spring. All of these trees will be distributed free of charge by the Department of Forestry to private planters throughout the state. The only expense that the planters must meet is the cost of packing and shipping, which rarely exceeds 75c per thousand.

During the last year the size of the Clearfield Forest Tree Nursery has been doubled. By the middle of summer a total of 8 acres will be in seed beds. It is estimated that the annual outrut of the nursery by 1925 will be from six to ten million forest trees. This means that the Clearfield nursery will produce annually enough trees to reforest at least 6,000 acres of barren and waste land in Pennsylvania.

Largest Quil Moose.

One thousand five hundred pounds is said to be the weight of the largest bull moose ever weighed in this country, and the greatest known horn spread is 75 inches.

Roy Hauser, Wednesday afternoon by use of the ring ceremony. They were attended by the mother of the bride. They will reside for the present at the home of the bride.

ANTI-MASK LAWS EFFECTIVE IN TWO STATES

St. Paul, April 9.—Governor Preuf today signed the Payne anti-mask bill, which was finally passed last week by the legislature. Supporters of the measure said it was aimed at the Ku Klux Klan.

Also in Iowa.

Des Moines, April 9.—Governor Kendall today signed the Yenter anti-mask bill, which received final Senate action last week.

What to Eat and Why

"Proteins" in Your Food Important for Tissue-Building

The Proteins in our foods are in charge of an important work for us. They are a necessary factor in building and maintaining the body-tissues. We need a certain, definite quantity of Proteins daily from our food—and the quality as well as the quantity of the Proteins is important.

Grape-Nuts includes the excellent Proteins of the wheat, and the supply of Proteins is supplemented by the cream or milk with which Grape-Nuts is eaten.

The Proteins in Grape-Nuts are combined with a very desirable form of carbohydrates (the grain starches) which are partially predigested through the long, slow baking by which Grape-Nuts is made. In its easy and quick digestion and assimilation Grape-Nuts helps prevent the unfavorable intestinal conditions which often occur from other sources of Protein supply and which greatly interfere with nutrition.

Grape-Nuts, with cream or milk, is a complete food, containing phosphorus, iron, calcium and vitamins—elements vitally necessary for the body's needs but often lacking in modern, "refined" foods.

You will find Grape-Nuts wonderfully crisp, flavory and appetizing—a delightful part of any meal and an important aid to health and fitness.

Ready to serve from the package—order from your grocer today. Many servings to a package of this genuinely economical food. Grape-Nuts—the Body Builder. "There's a Reason." Made by Postum Cereal Co., Inc., Battle Creek, Mich.

Wherever motor cars are discussed and that's nearly everywhere, somebody is sure to remark—"That Studebaker Special-Six is a regular automobile."

The Studebaker Special-Six has been on the market for four years. Each year has seen added to it such refinements and improvements as time has made possible. Today there are more than one hundred and twenty-five thousand in everyday service and we don't believe there's a dissatisfied owner.

The name was selected because comparative tests against all kinds of cars made this car stand out as something special and apart from the ordinary run of automobiles. It requires special merit to warrant calling any car a special—and if this value isn't special the car quickly fades away.

Count the "Special-Sixes" that have appeared since the arrival of the Studebaker Special-Six. That's the proof of the value of the original Special-Six.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

You never can get any satisfaction out of Pennsylvania laws or Pennsylvania law makers. Just when we were able to throw a crumb of comfort to the poor unfortunate bootlegger, whose trial is pending in the Clearfield county court, along comes one of our lawyer friends to point out to us a "saving" clause in the Pinchot dry bill which provides for dealing with liquor law violators who were arrested under the Woner act previous to the signing of the new act by the governor. There is always some harbinger of evil tidings about to upset the cup of pleasure before we have even a chance to taste of its contents.

The trout fishing season opens in Pennsylvania on Monday next and will run until August 1st. Poor trout if there are any left. To date County Treasurer Rumberger has issued a few more than 1,000 licenses to Clearfield county trout fishermen, but applications are reaching the office at the rate of one hundred or more per day.

Bruce Porter has been telling a story recently in which a moral of doubtful character was pointed out. Bruce said in a southern community a man who had lived to be 93 years old and had always lived a sober life was sick nigh unto death. He attributed his long life to the fact that he had always been a total abstainer and desiring to use the record of this good citizen as an example to the youth of the land, a committee of the temperance women of the neighborhood hurried to the aged man's bedside with a prepared statement setting forth the fact tha the old fellow had never taken a drink of liquor in his life and believed this fact to be responsible almost entirely for his long life. The paper was placed before the sick man who was propped up in bed ready to sign it. As he took the pen in hand an awful racket was heard in the adjoining room while the pen dropped from the would-be signer's nerveless fingers as he fell back against the pillows.

Greatly alarmed, the committee of ladies, as of one voice exclaimed "Mercy, what is that?" Gathering himself together as he again reached for the pen, the testimonial giver wearily replied, "Oh, I suppose that's father coming home drunk again; wish they could put a stop to this moonshining."

We never quite believed Bruce's tale until in scanning the daily papers yesterday we noted the following news item from Ville Platte, Louisiana: "Auguste Jeansonne, who would have been 112 [illegible] another day, died here. He was the father of twenty-three children, [illegible] whom seventeen are living, the eldest being ninety-three years old."

These might have been the people Bruce heard about.

They must have the same kind of locomotives on the Cadiz, O., branch of the Pennsylvania railroad that they are using on the Tyrone & Clearfield branch here. A recent news dispatch from the Ohio town makes it sound like it when it gets off the following:—

"An unique system of signaling has been adopted on the locomotive sent here to temporarily replace Engine No. 18,137, which has been used for years on the Cadiz branch of the Pennsylvania railroad. The Cadiz branch became famous when former President Taft's special train stalled on that line during the 1912 campaign.

The locomotive sent to take the place of the old-timer is of the type used on freight runs and has no compressed air signaling line for use by the conductor in notifying the engineer when to start or stop the train.

Accordingly, the engineer obtained a piece of rope, attached to the line running through the coaches and fastened the other end to his leg. The conductor's yank on the bellcord, likewise, pulls the engineer's leg. The system works very successfull, without unduly stretching the leg, it is said."

Something the framers of the present Pinchot dry law overlooked along with the stomach pump:—

Turkish bootleggers or other violators of the new dry regime may be punished by vigorous application of the lash—thirty strokes. This is in addition to a fine. No definite date has yet been set for inauguration of prohibition, but a proclamation has been issued ordering an inventory of booze stocks within fifteen days. This indicates the lid will be clamped on about the end of the month. If no more liquor is imported, there is enough on hand to last the city of Constantinople a year and a half.

"Don't Get Up Nights Anymore"

Indiana Manufacturer Suffered with Bladder Trouble for Years. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) Made Him Well.

No one need suffer the pain and annoyance of bladder trouble, rushing up many times each night. C. F. Meltzer, Evansville, Ind., writes: "I took Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula), in April and have been waiting until August to see if the good results were going to be permanent. I am so glad I am all O. K. In fact I feel as well as ever. Before I took Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) I had to get up two to four times every hour at night and was bothered nearly as much in daytime. It got so bad I could not go any place to visit or work, for I had no control of my bladder. I am all right now and have no trouble at all. I will be glad to tell any sufferer what Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) did for me."

Sufferers from bladder trouble will be surprised at the impurities passed after a few doses of Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula). These impurities cause the bladder trouble. This is not a patent medicine. The formula is printed on the package. It acts on the kidneys and bladder similarly as do Epsom salts on the bowels. Try a few doses for frequent desire at night, scalding, scanty or high-colored urine. Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) is not a cheap remedy, they cost 25c each and contain several drams. Learn all about Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) at Stewart's Drug Store and druggists everywhere, or write The Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, O.

Tells How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Indianapolis, Indiana.—"Now I want to tell you just what induced me to take your medicine. It seemed that I had some kind of weakness so that I could not carry a child its full time. The last time I was troubled this way I had a nervous breakdown and was a complete wreck. The doctor thought I would not live, and if I did that I would never be well and strong again. But I told them I was going to get well, that I was not going to die just then. My husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took six bottles of it. I soon got strong again and had three more children. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound ever since, and if you could see me now you would think I had always been well."—Mrs. MARY F. HERRICK, 2 4 Detroit St., Indianapolis, Ind.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire reproductive system, so that it may work in every respect effectually sausage intents.

(ALLENTOWN, PA.)

8% Cumulative Participating Preferred Stock Class A

Shares $25 Par Value. Dividends payable quarterly January, April, July and October 1st
Philadelphia Trust Company, Transfer Agent

The Corporation assumes payment of Pennsylvania Four Mills Tax; exempt by law of Normal Federal Income Tax

In connection with these shares, we are officially advised as follows:

L. F. Grammes & Sons, Incorporated, is the successor by purchase, to a business originally established in 1875, and in continuous operation since that time. Its properties consist of about 10¾ acres of land at Allentown, Pa., with a modern five-story plant, mill type construction, engaged in the manufacture, on a quantity production basis, and largely through the use of automatic machinery, of metal articles such as special wire nails, name plates, box nailing machines, tools of varied kinds, and particularly metal bank and office equipment and supplies. In addition the company is engaged in the business of jobbing office, factory and other equipment and supplies, which goods, as well as those manufactured in the plant, are in large part sold by mail and mostly to banks, business houses and public utility companies.

CAPITALIZATION

L. F. Grammes & Sons, Inc., is capitalized as follows:

| | Authorized | Issued |
|---|---|---|
| First Mortgage Sinking-fund 5.6% Bonds, due April 1, 1935 | $300,000 | $300,000 |
| Eight per cent Cumulative Participating Preferred Stock, Class A (Shares $25 par value) | 500,000 | 350,000 |
| Six per cent Cumulative Participating Preferred Stock, Class B (Shares $25 par value) | 100,000 | 100,000 |
| Class A Common Stock, no par value | 3,624 Shrs. | 3,642 Shrs. |
| Class B Common Stock, no par value | 12,000 " | 8,000 " |

The foregoing bonds and capital stocks have been issued solely for the purpose of providing funds for the purchase of the interests of the partners of L. F. Grammes & Sons, no portion of the proceeds being used for the payment of loans or other indebtedness or for working capital.

The Eight Per Cent Cumulative Preferred Stock Class A is entitled to cumulative dividends at the rate of eight per cent per annum, and after payment of dividends at stated rates on Class B Preferred and Class A Common Stocks, is entitled to participate with Class B Common Stock until dividends aggregating ten per cent yearly have been distributed. The stock is redeemable, as to the entire issue or part at $28.75 per share.

EARNINGS

Earnings for the twelve months ended February 28, 1923, as reported by Messrs. Marwick, Mitchell & Co., applied to the Company's Class A Preferred stock follows:

| | Year Ended February 28, 1923 |
|---|---|
| Total Profits (after depreciation) | $167,292 |
| Interest on Bonds $300,000 @ 5.6% | 16,800 |
| Balance | $150,492 |
| Dividends at 8% on $350,000 Cumulative Participating Preferred Stock, Class A | 28,000 |
| Balance | $122,492 |

The results indicate the regular 8 per cent dividend on Class A Participating Preferred Stock earned 4.37 times, and an amount sufficient to pay the full participating dividends on both the A and B Preferred Stocks with a balance equal to over $10.72 per share for the Class B Common Stock, and depreciation and other reserves.

MANAGEMENT

The business of L. F. Grammes & Sons, Incorporated, is under the management of Messrs. Day & Zimmermann, Inc., Engineers and Managers, Philadelphia.

LABORITES WIN BIG VICTORY IN ENGLAND

London, April 12.—Faced with a situation of little short of desperate, which finds the labor parties pushing the advantage gained in the House of Commons when the Government was defeated Tuesday night, British Government leaders met at Downing Street to endeavor to meet the issue.

The Cabinet discussed occurrences in the House Tuesday and Wednesday this afternoon.

London April 12.—The British Government in the House of Commons today capitulated to the demand of the first committed opposition that the program for aid to ex-service men be modified. The session at which the Government gave in was quiet, with no noisy demonstrations as occurred last night

"AN ESSENTIAL STEP"

Last night Herbert Hoover carried the war for peace into the Land of Isolationists. He spoke at Des Moines, Iowa, to the National League of Women Voters and to the Mid West. On the eve of his trip Tuesday he talked with the President. It is fair to assume that the President knew what Secretary Hoover would say in Des Moines.

That address, then, gives actual indication of the Administration's attitude toward our entrance into the Permanent Court of International Justice, as proposed by the President. In measured words, chosen with the care of an engineer picking the girders that shall bridge a deep ravine, Secretary Hoover recommitted the Administration and a great section of the Republican party to what he decribes as > * * * one more and an essential step on the road of fundamentals to all real peace, and that is the maintenance of good will through the elimination of causes of war.

In Secretary Hoover's opinion the World Court is not a "side door" way into the League of Nations, nor will it lead us into the League. As this Administration spokesman sees it, it is one more step on the road we have traveled since March, 1921. By its Naval Treaty and the Pacific and Far East pacts, the Washington Arms Conference withered sprouting seeds of war. Recently we fathered the Five-Nation Central American conference that insures peace there. We are now at Santiago working for peace and good will. The World Court offers us one more opportunity to strive for conciliation.

The Secretary's plea was that in our rejection of one plan, or one device for conciliation and peace, we shall not reject all other plans. He reminded the Nation's women and the timorous Mid West that the court is a court of law and not a political caucus, that public opinion and not force will back its verdicts and that nowhere can it exercise compulsion. The Secretary reassures the timid who fear we may be going too far and points out that for known reasons we cannot go along with Senator Borah and his plan to "outlaw war." Those who condemn the proposal because it does not go all the way he says > * * * are the ones who would have complained on Wednesday night of Genesis and gone to bed with a grouch because the Creator had not made a finished job of the sun and moon and would have called a mass meeting on Thursday morning to demand more forward action.

The moral is that a new world cannot be created in one day or three days. It must be done a step at a time; and those shifted with pride of opinion who refuse to go along unless their ideas are accepted in full are hindering the task.

The Des Moines address is the opening gun of the Administration's campaign. It was aimed with care and fired where it should do the most good.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

FALLS CREEK SOLDIER GETS HONOR MEDAL

Washington, April 9.—Dwight H. Schaffner of Falls Creek, Pennsylvania, has been awarded a Congressional medal of honor for conspicious gallantry while acting as commanding officer of Company K, Three Hundred and Sixth Infantry, at St. Hubert's Pavillion, France, in September 1918.

Lieutenant Schaffner led his company in an attack through terrific enemy machine gun, rifle and artillery fire and later displayed great bravery in repulsing three German counter-attacks.

The foregoing news dispatch from Washington will be of particular interest to many residents of DuBois and Falls Creek who are personally acquainted with Mr. Schaffner, despite the fact that he has not spent much of his time in past few years in this city. At present he is located at Akron, Ohio, as a practicing attorney, having graduated from the University of Bucknell. He played upon Bucknell athletic teams in this city in the past few years.

Information concerning his deeds overseas were not generally known here, owing to his reticence, and the news from Washington comes as a agreeable surprise.

SUGAR PRICE RAISE IS DUE TO GAMBLERS SAYS U. S. ATTORNEY

Washington, D. C., April 12.—Evidence tending to prove the conspiracy of sugar gamblers responsible for the recent boost of sugar prices will be laid before Acting Attorney General Seymour in New York today by Federal District Attorney Haywood whose office gathered the data.

Seymour left here last night after a conference with President Harding in which the Department of Justices investigation of the mysteries behind the sugar rise was thoroughly canvassed.

MELLON SAYS THREE MILE LIMIT WOULD HANDICAP DRY NAVY

Washington, D. C. April 12.—Use of the Navy in suppressing rum hunning would not be inappropriate but would not be efficacious unless the Navy could operate beyond the three mile limit is the belief of Secretary of Treasury Mellon.

Mellon stated today that no request had come to him from the Prohibition Enforcement Bureau to request naval assistance in combating rum smugglers.

Suggested use in the war on the rum smugglers by the Enforcement Bureau of two hundred thousand dollars, saved from concentrating warehouses, is not possible in Mellon's opinion. That money and earnings must go into the Treasury and if naval sub-chasers are obtained, the Enforcement Bureau must get an appropriation to pay for their use.

Plans were completed today for President Harding's second conference of governors on prohibition enforcement. The conference will be held here in May.

Electric Range And Heating Appliances

PENN PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATION announces the publication on February 23, 1923, of a new "F" rate for electric range and heating appliance service in order to provide the customer who desires to install such appliances with a lower rate for such service.

THE NEW "F" RATE is applicable to service for electric ranges and heating appliances which include such appliances as coffee percolators, toasters, griddles, etc.

The regular residence service will continue to be measured through the customary light meter, another meter and service being installed to take care of the electric range and heating demand.

ELECTRIC RANGE SCHEDULE "F"

For the first 30 kilowatt hours of monthly consumption ..... 10c per K. W. H.
For all in excess of 30 kilowatt hours used each month ..... 3c per K. W. H.

A minimum charge of $3.00 per month will be made.

All bills will be subject to a discount of 5% if paid on or before the 15th of the month following that for which bill is rendered.

Schedule will apply to service supplied through one meter, to one customer, at one residence, with an installed electric range or heating appliance capacity of not less than 3 K. W.

Our New Business Department at Clearfield will furnish full information upon request.

Clearfield, Pa., April 12, 1923.

Editor Clearfield Progress,
Clearfield, Pa.

Dear Sir:—

I have noted two different letters in your paper this week, regarding the recent robber that almost robbed Howe's jewelry store, with much interest.

Several of the good citizens that have so kindly donated these letters to your paper with the view and idea of the Colonel giving old man Sleuth a few lessons in shooting and a few lessons in Detective work; I want to take this means of inviting the Sleuth to accompany me with my daily tasks, in disposing of the dogs in this borough. I will absolutely guarantee that the Sleuth will be a better marksman in ten days, and I think the public in general will be benefited by this, as I "The Colonel" will certainly teach the Sleuth a few pointers, and especially not to shoot at airplanes, when the enemy is in Low Coal. Then, too, the Sleuth might have had a nightmare when the supposed Robber was supposed to be operating.

Please Public Safety Committees bear in mind that I am not in the same class with the Sleuth, either mentally, physically, morally or spiritually, and always rest in peace when you see the Colonel chasing dogs with his trusty rifle

I trust sincerely that I have made my views plain and clear and wishing the Sleuth better luck next time, I am,

Who Developed the Famous Beveled Buttress Tread?

LANCASTER!

The definite superiority of Lancaster Tires is recognized not only at home but abroad. Three great foreign nations have granted basic patents on Lancaster construction.

BEFORE you buy another tire, see a cross-section of the Lancaster. Study the features that have made it a triumph of tire engineering.

Note the famous beveled buttress—originated by Lancaster three years ago—and now recognized as a development of vast importance to the tire industry.

Look at the Lancaster tread—sturdy, generous blocks of solid rubber. Observe the triangular sections, supporting every block in the outer rows of the tread. These triangular sections are the famous beveled buttresses which reinforce the blocks, keep them from spreading under weight of the load and prevent rapid wear.

Since 1920, Lancaster tires have been built with an exceptionally broad, flat tread —greater surface for the distribution of wear —better traction—more mileage.

Beyond all question, Lancaster set valuable precedents for the whole tire industry when it pioneered in bringing out the beveled buttress and the semi-flat tread.

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Copyright, 1923, by E. Phillips Oppenheim
Arrgt. NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Vendetta begins between MICHAEL SAYERS, noted criminal, and SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead an officer sent to arrest him. Sir Norman falls in love with Janet and marries her. Michael rescues Lord Kindersley and his daughter, Beatrice, when their auto runs wild. Beatrice and Sayers are in love, but it is a hopeless infatuation because Michael is a hunted criminal.

Headed by Sayers, robbers break into Kindersley Court and rob the guests, who are assembled at dinner. Michael is recognized by Beatrice and Sir Norman. When Beatrice asks to be allowed to keep her jewelry, Michael grants her request.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

Sir Norman Continues Story:

ARNEST LUTHER asked me a question from somewhere in the shadows.

"Greyes," he said, "you were speaking of a famous criminal, a man named Michael. You called that fellow—"

"That was the man," I told him. "Greyes seems to me to be the lucky man," Lord Harroden remarked. "He could have settled scores with you, all right—potted you like a sitting rabbit, any moment he wanted to."

"Quite true," I admitted. "But the one thing which has made the pursuit of Michael so fascinating is that he is the sort of man who would never shoot a sitting rabbit. He spoke the truth when he said that the end would come when one or the other of us was driven into a corner and both were armed . . . So far as I am concerned," I added, glancing across at Janet, "I am rather inclined to let it be a drawn battle. The hunting of men is a great sport, but the zest for it passes with the years."

Release came at last; another key to the apartment where we were imprisoned was found; the door was thrown open, and a stream of servants with lamps and candles entered. A few minutes of incoherent exclamation followed. The orders which Lord Kindersley roared out were almost pitifully ineffective. We were seventeen miles from a market town and five miles from a village, and the manor which stretched from the park gates led across the loneliest part of England. The more we discussed it, the more we realized that it was, without doubt, a most amazing set up.

NATURALLY, the press devoted a great deal of attention to a robbery of such sensational magnitude, and several journalists and photographers traveled down specially from London in search of material. Rimmington himself came down from Scotland Yard with two of his shrewdest assistants, but as he acknowledged to me upon the third night after their arrival, the whole affair had been carried out with such amazing foresight that it seemed impossible to lay hold anywhere of a clew.

Janet and I stayed on at Kindersley Court for the last meet of the staghounds—a day which we are neither of us likely ever to forget. We motored over to Exford, where our host had sent all his available horses two days before. Janet, Beatrice Kindersley and I were among those of the house party who rode.

Early in the afternoon we found ourselves on the fringe of the hunt, on the southern slope of Hawksley Down. Suddenly Beatrice, who had been looking over her shoulder, gave a little exclamation. A man, riding a dark bay horse, whom I had noticed once or twice always on the outskirts of the hunt, came round the side of a piled-up mass of stones and boulders and rode straight up to us.

I must confess that at first the incident possessed no significance for me. In his well cut and well-worn riding clothes, and possessing the assured seat of a practiced rider, there was nothing to distinguish this man from half a dozen of Lord Kindersley's neighbors with whom we had exchanged greetings during the day. It was not, in fact, until he suddenly wheeled his horse round to within a yard or two of us, and I saw something glitter in his right hand, that I realized who he was.

"Norman Greyes," he said, "I call an armistice for five minutes. You will admit," he added, glancing downwards at his right hand, "that I am in a position to call the game."

"Let it be an armistice, Michael," I agreed. "What do you want with me?"

"With you, nothing," he answered. "I came to speak to Miss Kindersley."

"I find that my confederate misunderstood me the other night," he continued, "and that after all he took your jewelry from the table. I have stayed in the neighborhood to return it."

He leaned over and placed a sealed box in Beatrice's hand. I could have sworn that I saw her fingers clutch passionately at his as he drew away.

HE WHEELED HIS HORSE TO WITHIN A YARD OF US. I SAW SOMETHING GLITTER IN HIS HAND.

"I knew that it was a mistake," she said softly, looking across at him as though striving to call him back to her side. He kept his face, however, turned steadily away. His expression had changed. The old mocking smile was back upon his lips.

"Upon reflection, Janet," he continued, "especially when I considered the richness of our haul, I felt a certain impulse of distaste toward robbing you of your newly acquired splendors. Permit me."

HE handed her also a little packet. Then he backed his horse a few paces, but he still lingered, and I knew that he had something else to say.

"So our friend Rimmington has given up the chase and gone back to London," he observed. "Give him a hint from me some day. Tell him not to take it for granted that the first impulse of the malefactor is to place as great a distance as possible between himself and the scene of his misdemeanors."

"I will remember your message," I promised. "You realize, of course, that I shall report your being still in the neighborhood?"

"If you did not," was the cool reply, "the next few hours would be empty of interest to me. Even if you yourself take a hand in the game, Greyes, and I will do you the credit to admit that you are the cleverest of the lot, I promise you that I shall make my way to safety as easily as I shall canter across this moor."

He leaned suddenly toward me.

"Send the women on for a moment," he begged. "I have a word for you alone."

JANET turned her horse at once in obedience to my gesture. Beatrice, however, lingered. She was gazing across at my companion. I saw their eyes meet, and it seemed to me a strange thing that such a look should pass between those two. Then I saw Michael shake his head.

She turned and rode slowly after Janet, but reined in her horse scarcely twenty paces away. Michael rode up to my side. He had dropped his weapon back into the loose pocket of his riding-coat. He was at my mercy, and he knew it. Yet, rightly enough, he had no fear.

"Norman Greyes," he said, "this is the end of our duel, for I have finished with life as you and I understand life. Fate has made us enemies. Fate might more than once have given either of us the other's life. Those things are finished."

"You speak as though you were making a voluntary retirement—yet how can you hope to escape?" I asked him. "There is a price upon your head wherever you turn."

"I am not here to speak about myself," he answered indifferently. "I want a word with you about that girl."

"About Beatrice Kindersley?"

"Yes."

"What can you have to say about her?" I demanded, puzzled, although the memory of that look was still with me.

"Never mind. . . . You know life, Greyes. You know that the greatest of us are great because of our follies. That girl is the folly of my later life. There is a touch of romance in her, a sentiment— For God's sake, Greyes, don't sit and look at me like a graven image! Be a human being and say that you understand."

I remembered that look, and I nodded. "I understand," I said. "Go on."

"Tell her, then, for the love of heaven, who and what I am. Tell her that I have wives living, women whom I have deceived in every quarter of the globe. Tell her that a policeman's hand upon my shoulder would mean the gallows in England or the electric chair in America. Strip off the coverings. Show her the raw truth. Tell her that I am a criminal at heart from the sheer love of crime."

"I'll tell her what you say," I promised.

"Damn it, man!" he answered passionately, as he turned his head to windward for a moment and swung round his horse. "Tell her nothing from me; tell her from yourself! You know the truth, if any man does. Give her pain, of you must. Show her the ugly side. As man to man, Greyes, enemy to enemy, swear that you will do this."

"I swear," I answered.

He must have touched his horse with his whip, unseen by me, for the words had scarcely left my lips before he was galloping away, making for the loneliest and bleakest part of the moor. I heard a stifled cry from Beatrice, a cry that was almost a sob.

Michael Takes Up the Story

I LUNCHED one Sunday morning at the Cafe de Paris with my friend Gaston Lefevre, the well-known insurance agent of the Rue Scribe—a luncheon specially planned to celebrate the winding-up of one of the greatest coups of our partnership.

"You must now be a very wealthy man, my friend," Lefevre said to me a trifle enviously.

"I have enough," I answered. "As a matter of fact, that is one of the reasons why I have decided to levy no more contributions upon the fools of the world."

"You are not going to retire?" Lefevre cried in a tone of alarm.

"Absolutely," I assured him. "I have burned all my boats in England, destroyed all ciphers, sealed up my secret places of refuge and said goodby to all my friends."

PITTSBURGH MAN ENDORSES DR. THACHER'S MEDICINE

Stomach Troubles, Dizzy Spells and Rheumatism of Six Years Standing All Disappear After Taking Dr. Thacher's Liver & Blood Syrup, Says Simon Herzog.

Almost everybody in Pittsburgh and vicinity knows Simon A. Herzog, manager of the Riverside Sales Stables, who lives at 1813 Locust street. For six years, Mr. Herzog says, he suffered terribly from rheumatism and indigestion, but has been completely relieved by Dr. Thacher's Liver & Blood Syrup. In telling, the other day, of his remarkable experience with this splendid tonic, Mr. Herzog said:

"My stomach was in such an awful condition that I could hardly eat a thing that didn't sour and bloat me up with gas and make me miserable. Dizzy spells would come, my back would ache fit to kill and I was so nervous I would lie awake half the night trying to get a little sleep. Then rheumatism in my left shoulder was so bad I couldn't raise my arm to my head.

"One of my friends recommended Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup and just there bottles put an end to my troubles. I never suffer a bot of pain or distress of any kind, why, I feel as lively as a young colt turned loose in a new pasture. I have told all my men to take this tonic for I know it will build them up and give them "pep."

Dr Thacher's Liver and blood Syrup is sold in Clearfield by Stewart Drug Company.

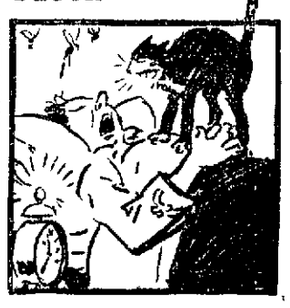
HOW TO SLEEP ON A BARE FLOOR



IT is more a matter of SLEEP, than of bed or board

Some people can sleep sitting up, standing up, even while walking.

Many people can't sleep in the softest of downy beds, and all of us suffer occasionally from nerve-racking, wearing, tiring wakefulness at night.

There is always a reason for sleeplessness. Usually, it is a "sour" stomach, a liver that has "lain down" on the job, congested bowels, or biliousness.

Then, just before retiring, take Beecham's Pills. They soothe an uneasy stomach, encourage the organs of digestion and elimination to natural activity, and assure restful sleep no matter what!

LEGISLATORS AT HARRISBURG WRANGLE OVER VEXING TAXATION PROBLEM; CHARGE GOV. WITH CREATING FALSE IMPRESSION

Harrisburg, Pa., April 12.—The whole question of taxation burst out on the floor of the House of Representatives today in an irregular and unexpected debate, which continued as member after member arose and presented heated views on the subject.

Governor Pinchot was charged by Representative Alexander of Delaware with the responsibility for the present taxation tangle. Alexander said the Governor had created a false public impression of the situation and unless Pinchot 'came out in the open" no taxation bill will pass the House.

The manufacturer's tax was put forward by other members as the one solution of the financial problem confronting the Legislation.

Representative Ogle of Somerset, said the Ways and Means Committee was groping in the darkness, looking for help. "I call upon the manufacturers as patriotic citizens of the state," shouted Ogle, "to come to the rescue."

Representative Ludlow of Montgomery, long regarded as one of the Administration's leaders of the House, declared he had an open mind on the proposal of the manufacturers tax. "We should not be bound by the precedence of forty years, nursed by a managed lobby," said Dudlow.

YELLOW DOGS WILL RUN RAMPANT THRU OLD CLEARFIELD THIS EVENING; COL. MACK KUHN GIVES HIS OFFICIAL PERMISSION

A kennel of Yellow Dogs will be instituted in Clearfield tonight, the services incident thereto starting promptly at 8:16 o'clock or the exact instant at which the Dog Star begins his nightly barking at the moon.

This ancient, aristocrescent, transcendental and high sounding titled organization is native to Central Pennsylvania and is not alone a name but a conglomeration to conjure with.

The organization owed its original being to old King Tut, whose peaceful slumbers were recently disturbed after 3500 years in far off Egypt. The original charter membership list was discovered by the late Lord Carnarvon when he kicked old Tut out of his long but not last resting place. Some say that when Carnarvon gave Tut the jolly old kick in the ribs he so angered the evil spirits left to guard the tomb that one of them up and stung him, said sting resulting in Mr. Lord's death.

That may be so but never having been "stung" we are not going to attempt to pass upon that point, but we have upon the authority of the Chief Yellow Dog Cur in charge of the hostilities at tonight's function that Lord Carnarvon's demise was due solely and entirely to a bite on the calf of his leg from the spirit of the first Yellow Dog interred with King Tut's chariot for the express purpose of guarding the secret records and work of this ancient and honorable order, who got in his work before any of the stingaree's on guard could unlimber a single stinger.

Meanwhile and because of the important function which will bring more than twenty-five visiting Yellow Dogs from a neighboring town to put on the work, or "the works" on the candidates, Chairman Ellis of the public property committee of council has arranged to have those posts in front of the hose house not only properly decorated but lighted for the occasion so the four-footed visitors will have no trouble in searching them out when their first aid is requisite.

Col. Mack Kuhn has given his word of honor, and will give his note on demand, not to harm a single hair on the back of any Yellow Dog for the 24 hours beginning at the eighth hour this evening. After the expiration of the time limit let all beware.

YOUNG LAWYER GETS 30 DAYS IN JAIL ON CONTEMPT CHARGE

Des Moines Ia., April 12.—A resolution endorsing President Harding's plan for participation of the United States in the International Court of Justice was introduced by Miss Ruth Morgan, Chairman of the National Council for Prevention of War at today's session of the National League of Women Voters' Convention. The resolution will lay in committee twenty-four hours before action is taken.

BOOZE BANDITS, IN TRAIN HOLDUP, GET AWAY WITH BIG HAUL

Peoria, Ill., April 12.—Fourteen armed and masked bandits held up a Santa Fe freight train near here for nearly two hours at midnight and escaped with more than thirty thousand dollars worth of liquor and alcohol.

Four of the robbers boarded the train as it pulled out of Pekin and forced the engineer and train crew to stop at Crandall Crossing, where the other ten awaited with trucks.

While the confederates kept the trainmen lined up, the cars containing the liquor were broken into and the loot loaded on the trucks. Firing a volley into the air, the bandits drove away. Posses lead by Sheriff Newhaus are in pursuit.

STATE POLICE MAKE A FINE RECORD FOR YEAR; ARREST 14,246

Harrisburg, April 11.—Two of the 14,246 persons arrested by State Police during 1922 were sentenced to death, according to a report of the disposition of persons arrested during the year made public by police headquarters here today.

Of the total, 1,416 were discharged with 99 paroled, 116 released on reprimand and 58 with sentences suspended. Penitentiary terms of from one to 25 years were imposed on 226. Five year terms weze given 47; 10 years to 60; 20 years to 15 and 25 years to eight.

Eighteen died while under arrest and six were deported. Disposition of some of the other classes was: Jail, 1,098; insane asylum, 48; costs, 1,774; fined 434; costs and fine, 3,896 work house, 168; violated bail, 178.

DUBOIS STUDENT FATALLY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Sheldon Brown, Honor Student at University, and Richard Sweet, Victims of Collision.

HAD FRIENDS HERE

Sandusky, O., April 11.—Richard Sweet, of Battle Creek, Mich., and Sheldon Brown, of DuBois, Pa., both students at the University of Michigan, were fatally injured this afternoon three miles west of Monroeville, when their automobile crashed into another car.

Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Brown, of Peru, O., occupants of the other automobile, were rendered unconscious but not severely injured. Sweet and Brown, it was said, were enroute to Pennsylvania. Sweet died in an ambulance enroute to a Norwalk hospital, and Brown died at the hospital.

The above telegram will be read with general regret this morning, conveying as it does the death of a young man very well known in DuBois, and a student of unusual worth at the University of Michigan, where he would have graduated this spring.

No details of the accident are known by relatives in DuBois. The first intimation of the accident was received by Mrs. Byron D. Johnson, mother of Mr. Brown, who was apprised of the fact that an accident had occurred and particulars could be learned from a doctor at Norwalk, O. Mrs. Johnson called up the doctor and was told that her son had just died the hospital.

Mr. Brown had written home that he would not be in DuBois for the Easter vacation, but expected to take a trip with Richard Sweet, the young man who was also killed in the accident. It is presumed that the young men were on their way back to the University when the accident occurred.

Sheldon Brown was 23 years of age and was a young man of great promise. At the university he was regarded as unusually brilliant, an honor student, and one who participated generally in student activities. As such he was honored by being elected to various positions of responsibility.

Here in DuBois Mr. Brown was generally known and greatly liked because of his many sterling qualities.

It is probable that the remains will be brought home for burial, Mrs Johnson having left for Norwalk to make these arrangements.

SECOND W. VA. MAN TO GET FIRST DEGREE MURDER VERDICT

Clarksburg, W. Va., April 12.—The death sentence today was passed on Phil Connisarro, the second of eleven alleged leaders in the West Virginia Crime Syndicate to be condemned to hang for complicity in the murder of Frank Naples.

Prosecutor Morris of Harrison County said he would announce shortly the third defendant to be tried in connection with more than a dozen murders and acts of violence in West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania in the last three years.

SECRETARY HOOVER VOICES HARDING PLAN FOR AMERICA'S GOING INTO WORLD COURT—NECESSARY TO ESTABLISH PEACE

Secretary of Commerce Claims Permanent Court of International Justice Was "Made In America," Instead of Invention of Diplomats of Old World, and We Should Go In.

MUST ELIMINATE ALL CAUSES OF WAR

Washington, D. C. April 12.—The subject of the final decision as to whether America shall enter the League of Nations is being seriously considered by officials of the Harding Administration, a member of the Cabinet stated today. The question is being studied upon this basis.

First—Should the United States join the League in carrying out plans to take definite steps in association with other Nations to prevent war.

Second—If so, upon what terms should the League be entered.

Des Moines, Ia., April 11.—American membership in the permanent Court of International Justice, organized by the League of Nations, was advocated by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover here tonight as "an essential step" in the direction of world peace.

Those who have opposed membership in the league itself, he said, need not hang back from participation in the court nor fear political entanglements through its operation. He replied directly to criticisms by Senator Borah of Idaho, who, he declared, really wanted now to go "further" than the American people were willing to follow him.

Secretary Hoover spoke before the annual convention of the National League of Women Voters and his address was the first detailed reply from administration quarters to those who have assailed the court proposal since it was laid before the Senate by President Harding. It marked the beginning of the public debate in which most of the leading public men of the country are preparing to take part.

Not Entering League.

To go into the court, Mr. Hoover said would not be "entering the league in any sense." On the contrary, he argued, it would aid in placing international relationships on a basis of law rather than politics and would at the same time continue the American policy of conciliation and good will exemplified in the arms conference and in recent relations with Latin America.

He continued:

The proposals to join the court have been criticised from various angles. The first of these is that it leads us into some undescribed political entanglement. This is untrue, for the decrees of the international court are based upon the process of law, not upon political agreement, their enforcement rests wholly on public opinion and not upon force. In supporting this court, we subscribe to no compulsion whatever. Compulsion is in fact specifically excluded. We do not need to submit any case to the court unless we feel like doing so at the time the case arises.

Can't Be Summoned.

No other nation can summon us into court except with our consent. The court itself cannot summon us in, nor in any manner or degree exart upon us any kind of compulsion, not even moral. Our proposal to enter the court and the act of adhesion to it which President Harding has asked, is based upon the assumption that compulsion is not necessary for peoples of good will and a sense of justice.

It is true that part of the other nations in joining this court have joined it in a slightly stronger degree. These other nations have been moved either because they have greater faith in the processes of international co-operation than America is able to show in its present mood of distrust, or else because harsh suffering has made them more fearful to the menace of war.

Makes Only Two Promises.

But the adhesion which President Harding proposes to the international court is strictly limited by carefully drawn stipulations which will no doubt be fully considered by the Senate. All we do if we ratify President Harding's proposal—all the promises we make—the only obligations we take are these and only these:

We promise to pay a share of the running expenses of the court, a matter less than $40,000 a year; and we promise to take part with 46 other nations in the choosing of the judges. The judges are men of international reputation who sit nine years and are freed of all prejudice except to maintain principle and law.

Connection With League Remote.

There is another section of opponents of President Harding's proposal who condemn the idea, not because they do not agree to its primary purpose and method, but solely because it was created under the auspices of the League of Nations. But we are not by this act entering the League in any sense. The connection of the court with the League is indeed remote. Its sole relationship is that the judges are elected as provided in its own statute, not by the League itself, by the representatives of the nations to the League acting as an electoral body for this purpose. It is this elective body that we join, not the League.

To some people the League is such anathema that even its many good aims are bad. Let us admit frankly that there are among our people many thousands perhaps hundreds of thousands, who, as regards the phrase "League of Nations" are still under the tyranny of emotions associated with that phrase during the political controversy of the last four years. It is unhappily true that in such controversies a phrase is given an emotion which disturbs the orderly march of entirely dissociated ideas. What they would willingly assent to as a thing standing by itself they shrink from merely because it has association with a phrase.

Court Already in Existence.

There are a few people who apparently maintain an open mind on international co-operation by rearrangement of their prejudices. The court is already in existence. It is largely the handiwork of American thought and American hands. For us to insist upon its being torn down and re-erected just because it was created by a conference called by the League (in which Americans took part) is one of the most unseemly suggestions of national selfishness that can be conceived.

Another section of the opponents of President Harding's proposal condemn it because it does not go far enough, because it has no teeth in it. This is the basis of Senator Borah's objection. I admit the enlightenment and the courage of his position. He would have an international court of such strength that it would try war itself and would have us join it in such a manner that we would be obligated to its jurisdiction. Senator Borah's international court in its relation to the nations would be somewhat an analogy to the Supreme Court of the United States in its relation to our states.

Now by all means let us have no quarrel—on the contrary let us have admiration and respect—for those who show the vision and courage to go this whole distance. But let us admit that as a practical matter, for reasons familiar to all of you, America is not ready to go this far.

HEAD OF WHOLESALE GROCERY FIRM GETS DEATH CALL ON TRAIN

William H. Lauderbach, of Lauderbach-Zerby Co., Expires Suddenly Near Pittsburgh.

Philipsburg, Pa., April 12.—William H. Lauderbach, president of the Lauderbach-Zerby Company, one of the leading wholesale grocery firms in Western Pennsylvania, with the main offices and warerooms at Philipsburg, died early yesterday morning just west of Pittsburgh, as he was being hurried in a special car to his home in Hazelton in the hope that the death angel might find him in his own home.

For more than two months the financier, who was about 71 years of age, had been in failing health and several weeks ago he went to Hot Springs, Ark., in the hope that his health might be built up. He declined steadily, however, and when it was realized that the end was near he was hurried homeward. Shortly after midnight death came to him as the train sped eastward a few miles out of Pittsburgh. The body was taken to the home in Hazelton where funeral services will be held Saturday.

The deceased was one of Western Pennsylvania's most prominent capitalists. One of the organizers of the Lauderbach-Barber Company more than 25 years ago he was its first president and retained the presidency after it became the Lauderbach-Zerby Company. He had many other interests including coal, the manufacture of shoes, etc., For several years he was the leading citizen in Hazelton.

He leaves his widow and a family of grown sons and daughters.

He was a member of the Masonic order and a leader in church work in his home community. He visited Philipsburg only periodically but those who knew him here esteemed him greatly.

The death of his partner, R. H. Zerby, occurred only three months ago.

Curwensville's Own Column

Robert Addleman, one of the town's most prosperous local coal operators, made a business trip to Ridgway on Tuesday.

The body of Isaac Stage was brot to Curwensville yesterday afternoon and interred in the Oak Hill cemetery. The procession was an unusually large one, showing conclusively that he had been a citizen of worth and integrity.

Miss Nell Leech, manager of the Kantar & Sons State street store has been confined to her home for several days past by illness. Miss Syke will conduct the business during her absence.

Edward S. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Scofield street, and Miss Edith A. Glace, daughter of Mrs. Albert Jury, were united in wedlock Tuesday evening, April 10th, by Justice of the Peace John A. Dale the ceremony being performed at his residence on River street. The newlyweds will make their home in Curwensville for the time being.

The Philadelphia Merchandise Company, purchasers of the L. G. Vaughn store at receiver's sale, are selling out the entire stock piecemeal.

The sheriff posted a sale sign on the Pennsylvania Auto Service Corporation building yesterday, stating that pumps, tanks, chairs and all personal effects of the defendants were to be sold.

The Kantar & Sons Filbert street store which was robbed on Sunday night was considerable of a loser as some twenty suits of clothes are missing from the stock. Entrance was made at a side window by forcing the snap on top of the lower sash. A number of coat hangers were found in the alley at the rear of the building. No hint or clue as to who performed the feat has been ascertained as yet, and probably never will be unless it was an amateur job.

Mick Richards, who was in that auto smashup at the Kirk corner Tuesday evening was more severely injured than was at first supposed. It is reported that one of his hips was dislocated. The lower corner of the Kirk porch was thumped and damaged a trifle.

Watt H. Thompson, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Walter Shuttleworth, arrived in Curwensville yesterday forenoon from Williamsport, to attend the funeral of Mrs. R. H. Brainard, Mr. Thompson's sister. The body arrived from Missouri last evening, coming over the Pennsylvania and accompanied by her nephew, Wm. TenEyck, who was born in this town, but left for the west with his parents when he was but two years old.

MILLIONS OF NURSERY TREES TO BE SHIPPED

Harrisburg, Pa., April 11.—District Forester William F. Dague, of Clearfield, reports that approximately two and a quarter million trees will be shipped from the Clearfield nursery this spring. All of these trees will be distributed free of charge by the Department of Forestry to private planters throughout the state. The only expense that the planters must meet is the cost of packing and shipping, which rarely exceeds 75c per thousand.

During the last year the size of the Clearfield Forest Tree Nursery has been doubled. By the middle of summer a total of 8 acres will be in seed beds. It is estimated that the annual outrut of the nursery by 1925 will be from six to ten million forest trees. This means that the Clearfield nursery will produce annually enough trees to reforest at least 6,000 acres of barren and waste land in Pennsylvania.

What to Eat and Why

"Proteins" in Your Food Important for Tissue-Building

The Proteins in our foods are in charge of an important work for us. They are a necessary factor in building and maintaining the body-tissues. We need a certain, definite quantity of Proteins daily from our food—and the quality as well as the quantity of the Proteins is important.

Grape-Nuts includes the excellent Proteins of the wheat, and the supply of Proteins is supplemented by the cream or milk with which Grape-Nuts is eaten.

The Proteins in Grape-Nuts are combined with a very desirable form of carbohydrates (the grain starches) which are partially predigested through the long, slow baking by which Grape-Nuts is made. In its easy and quick digestion and assimilation Grape-Nuts helps prevent the unfavorable intestinal conditions which often occur from other sources of Protein supply and which greatly interfere with nutrition.

Grape-Nuts, with cream or milk, is a complete food, containing phosphorus, iron, calcium and vitamins—elements vitally necessary for the body's needs but often lacking in modern, "refined" foods.

You will find Grape-Nuts wonderfully crisp, flavory and appetizing—a delightful part of any meal and an important aid to health and fitness.

Ready to serve from the package—order from your grocer today. Many servings to a package of this genuinely economical food. Grape-Nuts—the Body Builder. "There's a Reason." Made by Postum Cereal Co., Inc., Battle Creek, Mich.

Wherever motor cars are discussed and that's nearly everywhere, somebody is sure to remark—"That Studebaker Special-Six is a regular automobile."

The Studebaker Special-Six has been on the market for four years. Each year has seen added to it such refinements and improvements as time has made possible. Today there are more than one hundred and twenty-five thousand in everyday service and we don't believe there's a dissatisfied owner.

The name was selected because comparative tests against all kinds of cars made this car stand out as something special and apart from the ordinary run of automobiles. It requires special merit to warrant calling any car a special—and if the value isn't special the car quickly fades away.

Count the "Special-Sixes" that have appeared since the arrival of the Studebaker Special-Six. That's the proof of the value of the original Special-Six.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

You never can get any satisfaction out of Pennsylvania laws or Pennsylvania law makers. Just when we were able to throw a crumb of comfort to the poor unfortunate bootlegger, whose trial is pending in the Clearfield county court, along comes one of our lawyer friends to point out to us a "saving" clause in the Pinchot dry bill which provides for dealing with liquor law violators who were arrested under the Woner act previous to the signing of the new act by the governor. There is always some harbinger of evil tidings about to upset the cup of pleasure before we have even a chance to taste of its contents.

The trout fishing season opens in Pennsylvania on Monday next and will run until August 1st. Poor trout if there are any left. To date County Treasurer Rumberger has issued a few more than 1,000 licenses to Clearfield county trout fishermen, but applications are reaching the office at the rate of one hundred or more per day.

Bruce Porter has been telling a story recently in which a moral of doubtful character was pointed out. Bruce said in a southern community a man who had lived to be 93 years old and had always lived a sober life was sick nigh unto death. He attributed his long life to the fact that he had always been a total abstainer and desiring to use the record of this good citizen as an example to the youth of the land, a committee of the temperance women of the neighborhood hurried to the aged man's bedside with a prepared statement setting forth the fact tha the old fellow had never taken a drink of liquor in his life and believed this fact to be responsible almost entirely for his long life. The paper was placed before the sick man who was propped up in bed ready to sign it. As he took the pen in hand an awful racket was heard in the adjoining room while the pen dropped from the would-be signer's nerveless fingers as he fell back against the pillows.

Greatly alarmed, the committee of ladies, as of one voice exclaimed "Mercy, what is that?" Gathering himself together as he again reached for the pen, the testimonial giver wearily replied, "Oh, I suppose that's father coming home drunk again; wish they could put a stop to this moonshining."

We never quite believed Bruce's tale until in scanning the daily papers yesterday we noted the following news item from Ville Platte, Louisiana: "Auguste Jeansonne, who would have been 112 [illegible] another day, died here. He was the father of twenty-three children, [illegible] whom seventeen are living, the eldest being ninety-three years old."

These might have been the people Bruce heard about.

They must have the same kind of locomotives on the Cadiz, O., branch of the Pennsylvania railroad that they are using on the Tyrone & Clearfield branch here. A recent news dispatch from the Ohio town makes it sound like it when it gets off the following:—

"An unique system of signaling has been adopted on the locomotive sent here to temporarily replace Engine No. 18,137, which has been used for years on the Cadiz branch of the Pennsylvania railroad. The Cadiz branch became famous when former President Taft's special train stalled on that line during the 1912 campaign.

The locomotive sent to take the place of the old-timer is of the type used on freight runs and has no compressed air signaling line for use by the conductor in notifying the engineer when to start or stop the train.

Accordingly, the engineer obtained a piece of rope, attached to the line running through the coaches and fastened the other end to his leg. The conductor's yank on the bellcord, likewise, pulls the engineer's leg. The system works very successfull, without unduly stretching the leg, it is said."

Something the framers of the present Pinchot dry law overlooked along with the stomach pump:—

Turkish bootleggers or other violators of the new dry regime may be punished by vigorous application of the lash—thirty strokes. This is in addition to a fine. No definite date has yet been set for inauguration of prohibition, but a proclamation has been issued ordering an inventory of booze stocks within fifteen days. This indicates the lid will be clamped on about the end of the month. If no more liquor is imported, there is enough on hand to last the city of Constantinople a year and a half.

"Don't Get Up Nights Anymore"

Indiana Manufacturer Suffered with Bladder Trouble for Years. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) Made Him Well.

No one need suffer the pain and annoyance of bladder trouble, rushing up many times each night. C. F. Meltzer, Evansville, Ind., writes: "I took Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula), in April and have been waiting until August to see if the good results were going to be permanent. I am so glad I am all O. K. In fact I feel as well as ever. Before I took Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) I had to get up two to four times every hour at night and was bothered nearly as much in daytime. It got so bad I could not go any place to visit or work, for I had no control of my bladder. I am all right now and have no trouble at all. I will be glad to tell any sufferer what Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) did for me."

Sufferers from bladder trouble will be surprised at the impurities passed after a few doses of Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula). These impurities cause the bladder trouble. This is not a patent medicine. The formula is printed on the package. It acts on the kidneys and bladder similarly as do Epsom salts on the bowels. Try a few doses for frequent desire at night, scalding, scanty or high-colored urine. Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) is not a cheap remedy, they cost 25c each and contain several drams. Learn all about Lithiated Buchu (Keller formula) at Stewart's Drug Store and druggists everywhere, or write The Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, O.

The Corporation assumes payment of Pennsylvania Four Mills Tax; exempt by law of Normal Federal Income Tax

In connection with these shares, we are officially advised as follows:

L. F. Grammes & Sons, Incorporated, is the successor by purchase, to a business originally established in 1875, and in continuous operation since that time. Its properties consist of about 10¾ acres of land at Allentown, Pa., with a modern five-story plant, mill type construction, engaged in the manufacture, on a quantity production basis, and largely through the use of automatic machinery, of metal articles such as special wire nails, name plates, box nailing machines, tools of varied kinds, and particularly metal bank and office equipment and supplies. In addition the company is engaged in the business of jobbing office, factory and other equipment and supplies, which goods, as well as those manufactured in the plant, are in large part sold by mail and mostly to banks, business houses and public utility companies.

CAPITALIZATION

L. F. Grammes & Sons, Inc., is capitalized as follows:

| | Authorized | Issued |
|---|---|---|
| First Mortgage Sinking-fund 5.6% Bonds, due April 1, 1935 | $300,000 | $300,000 |
| Eight per cent Cumulative Participating Preferred Stock, Class A (Shares $25 par value) | 500,000 | 350,000 |
| Six per cent Cumulative Participating Preferred Stock, Class B (Shares $25 par value) | 100,000 | 100,000 |
| Class A Common Stock, no par value | 3,624 Shrs. | 3,642 Shrs. |
| Class B Common Stock, no par value | 12,000 " | 8,000 " |

The foregoing bonds and capital stocks have been issued solely for the purpose of providing funds for the purchase of the interests of the partners of L. F. Grammes & Sons, no portion of the proceeds being used for the payment of loans or other indebtedness or for working capital.

The Eight Per Cent Cumulative Preferred Stock Class A is entitled to cumulative dividends at the rate of eight per cent per annum, and after payment of dividends at stated rates on Class B Preferred and Class A Common Stocks, is entitled to participate with Class B Common Stock until dividends aggregating ten per cent yearly have been distributed. The stock is redeemable, as to the entire issue or part at $28.75 per share.

EARNINGS

Earnings for the twelve months ended February 28, 1923, as reported by Messrs. Marwick, Mitchell & Co., applied to the Company's Class A Preferred stock follows:

| | Year Ended February 28, 1923 |
|---|---|
| Total Profits (after depreciation) | $167,292 |
| Interest on Bonds $300,000 @ 5.6% | 16,800 |
| Balance | $150,492 |
| Dividends at 8% on $350,000 Cumulative Participating Preferred Stock, Class A | 28,000 |
| Balance | $122,492 |

The results indicate the regular 8 per cent dividend on Class A Participating Preferred Stock earned 4.37 times, and an amount sufficient to pay the full participating dividends on both the A and B Preferred Stocks with a balance equal to over $10.72 per share for the Class B Common Stock, and depreciation and other reserves.

"AN ESSENTIAL STEP"

Last night Herbert Hoover carried the war for peace into the Land of Isolationists. He spoke at Des Moines, Iowa, to the National League of Women Voters and to the Mid West. On the eve of his trip Tuesday he talked with the President. It is fair to assume that the President knew what Secretary Hoover would say in Des Moines.

That address, then, gives actual indication of the Administration's attitude toward our entrance into the Permanent Court of International Justice, as proposed by the President. In measured words, chosen with the care of an engineer picking the girders that shall bridge a deep ravine, Secretary Hoover recommitted the Administration and a great section of the Republican party to what he decribes as > * * * one more and an essential step on the road of fundamentals to all real peace, and that is the maintenance of good will through the elimination of causes of war.

In Secretary Hoover's opinion the World Court is not a "side door" way into the League of Nations, nor will it lead us into the League. As this Administration spokesman sees it, it is one more step on the road we have traveled since March, 1921. By its Naval Treaty and the Pacific and Far East pacts, the Washington Arms Conference withered sprouting seeds of war. Recently we fathered the Five-Nation Central American conference that insures peace there. We are now at Santiago working for peace and good will. The World Court offers us one more opportunity to strive for conciliation.

The Secretary's plea was that in our rejection of one plan, or one device for conciliation and peace, we shall not reject all other plans. He reminded the Nation's women and the timorous Mid West that the court is a court of law and not a political caucus, that public opinion and not force will back its verdicts and that nowhere can it exercise compulsion. The Secretary reassures the timid who fear we may be going too far and points out that for known reasons we cannot go along with Senator Borah and his plan to "outlaw war." Those who condemn the proposal because it does not go all the way he says > * * * are the ones who would have complained on Wednesday night of Genesis and gone to bed with a grouch because the Creator had not made a finished job of the sun and moon and would have called a mass meeting on Thursday morning to demand more forward action.

The moral is that a new world cannot be created in one day or three days. It must be done a step at a time; and those shifted with pride of opinion who refuse to go along unless their ideas are accepted in full are hindering the task.

The Des Moines address is the opening gun of the Administration's campaign. It was aimed with care and fired where it should do the most good.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

FALLS CREEK SOLDIER GETS HONOR MEDAL

Washington, April 9.—Dwight H. Schaffner of Falls Creek, Pennsylvania, has been awarded a Congressional medal of honor for conspicious gallantry while acting as commanding officer of Company K, Three Hundred and Sixth Infantry, at St. Hubert's Pavillion, France, in September 1918.

Lieutenant Schaffner led his company in an attack through terrific enemy machine gun, rifle and artillery fire and later displayed great bravery in repulsing three German counter-attacks.

The foregoing news dispatch from Washington will be of particular interest to many residents of DuBois and Falls Creek who are personally acquainted with Mr. Schaffner, despite the fact that he has not spent much of his time in past few years in this city. At present he is located at Akron, Ohio, as a practicing attorney, having graduated from the University of Bucknell. He played upon Bucknell athletic teams in this city in the past few years.

Information concerning his deeds overseas were not generally known here, owing to his reticence, and the news from Washington comes as a agreeable surprise.

SUGAR PRICE RAISE IS DUE TO GAMBLERS SAYS U. S. ATTORNEY

Washington, D. C., April 12.—Evidence tending to prove the conspiracy of sugar gamblers responsible for the recent boost of sugar prices will be laid before Acting Attorney General Seymour in New York today by Federal District Attorney Haywood whose office gathered the data.

Seymour left here last night after a conference with President Harding in which the Department of Justices investigation of the mysteries behind the sugar rise was thoroughly canvassed.

MELLON SAYS THREE MILE LIMIT WOULD HANDICAP DRY NAVY

Washington, D. C. April 12.—Use of the Navy in suppressing rum running would not be inappropriate but would not be efficacious unless the Navy could operate beyond the three mile limit is the belief of Secretary of Treasury Mellon.

Mellon stated today that no request had come to him from the Prohibition Enforcement Bureau to request naval assistance in combating rum smugglers.

Suggested use in the war on the rum smugglers by the Enforcement Bureau of two hundred thousand dollars, saved from concentrating warehouses, is not possible in Mellon's opinion. That money and earnings must go into the Treasury and if naval sub-chasers are obtained, the Enforcement Bureau must get an appropriation to pay for their use.

Plans were completed today for President Harding's second conference of governors on prohibition enforcement. The conference will be held here in May.

Electric Range And Heating Appliances

PENN PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATION announces the publication on February 23, 1923, of a new "F" rate for electric range and heating appliance service in order to provide the customer who desires to install such appliances with a lower rate for such service.

THE NEW "F" RATE is applicable to service for electric ranges and heating appliances which include such appliances as coffee percolators, toasters, griddles, etc.

The regular residence service will continue to be measured through the customary light meter, another meter and service being installed to take care of the electric range and heating demand.

ELECTRIC RANGE SCHEDULE "F"

For the first 30 kilowatt hours of monthly consumption ..... 10c per K. W. H.
For all in excess of 30 kilowatt hours used each month ..... 3c per K. W. H.

A minimum charge of $3.00 per month will be made.

All bills will be subject to a discount of 5% if paid on or before the 15th of the month following that for which bill is rendered.

Schedule will apply to service supplied through one meter, to one customer, at one residence, with an installed electric range or heating appliance capacity of not less than 3 K. W.

Our New Business Department at Clearfield will furnish full information upon request.

Clearfield, Pa., April 12, 1923.

Editor Clearfield Progress,
Clearfield, Pa.

Dear Sir:—

I have noted two different letters in your paper this week, regarding the recent robber that almost robbed Howe's jewelry store, with much interest.

Several of the good citizens that have so kindly donated these letters to your paper with the view and idea of the Colonel giving old man Sleuth a few lessons in shooting and a few lessons in Detective work; I want to take this means of inviting the Sleuth to accompany me with my daily tasks, in disposing of the dogs in this borough. I will absolutely guarantee that the Sleuth will be a better marksman in ten days, and I think the public in general will be benefited by this, as I "The Colonel" will certainly teach the Sleuth a few pointers, and especially not to shoot at airplanes, when the enemy is in Low Coal. Then, too, the Sleuth might have had a nightmare when the supposed Robber was supposed to be operating.

Please Public Safety Committees bear in mind that I am not in the same class with the Sleuth, either mentally, physically, morally or spiritually, and always rest in peace when you see the Colonel chasing dogs with his trusty rifle

I trust sincerely that I have made my views plain and clear and wishing the Sleuth better luck next time, I am,

COL MACK,

Who Developed the Famous Beveled Buttress Tread?

LANCASTER!

The definite superiority of Lancaster Tires is recognized not only at home but abroad. Three great foreign nations have granted basic patents on Lancaster construction.

BEFORE you buy another tire, see a cross-section of the Lancaster. Study the features that have made it a triumph of tire engineering.

Note the famous beveled buttress—originated by Lancaster three years ago—and now recognized as a development of vast importance to the tire industry.

Look at the Lancaster tread—sturdy, generous blocks of solid rubber. Observe the triangular sections, supporting every block in the outer rows of the tread. These triangular sections are the famous beveled buttresses which reinforce the blocks, keep them from spreading under weight of the load and prevent rapid wear.

Since 1920, Lancaster tires have been built with an exceptionally broad, flat tread —greater surface for the distribution of wear —better traction—more mileage.

Beyond all question, Lancaster set valuable precedents for the whole tire industry when it pioneered in bringing out the beveled buttress and the semi-flat tread.

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Copyright, 1923, by E. Phillips Oppenheim
Arrgt. NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Vendetta begins between MICHAEL SAYERS, noted criminal, and SIR NORMAN GREYES, once of Scotland Yard, when Sayers' beautiful housemaid, JANET saves him from Sir Norman by shooting dead an officer sent to arrest him. Sir Norman falls in love with Janet and marries her. Michael rescues Lord Kindersley and his daughter, Beatrice, when their auto runs wild. Beatrice and Sayers are in love, but it is a hopeless infatuation because Michael is a hunted criminal.

Headed by Sayers, robbers break into Kindersley Court and rob the guests, who are assembled at dinner. Michael is recognized by Beatrice and Sir Norman. When Beatrice asks to be allowed to keep her jewelry, Michael grants her request.

NOW GO ON WITH STORY

Sir Norman Continues Story:

ARNEST LUTHER asked me a question from somewhere in the shadows.

"Greyes," he said, "you were speaking of a famous criminal, a man named Michael. You called that fellow—"

"That was the man," I told him. "Greyes seems to me to be the lucky man," Lord Harroden remarked. "He could have settled scores with you, all right—potted you like a sitting rabbit, any moment he wanted to."

"Quite true," I admitted. "But the one thing which has made the pursuit of Michael so fascinating is that he is the sort of man who would never shoot a sitting rabbit. He spoke the truth when he said that the end would come when one or the other of us was driven into a corner and both were armed . . . So far as I am concerned," I added, glancing across at Janet, "I am rather inclined to let it be a drawn battle. The hunting of men is a great sport, but the zest for it passes with the years."

Release came at last; another key to the apartment where we were imprisoned was found; the door was thrown open, and a stream of servants with lamps and candles entered. A few minutes of incoherent exclamation followed. The orders which Lord Kindersley roared out were almost pitifully ineffective. We were seventeen miles from a market town and five miles from a village, and the manor which stretched from the park gates led across the loneliest part of England. The more we discussed it, the more we realized that it was, without doubt, a most amazing set up.

NATURALLY, the press devoted a great deal of attention to a robbery of such sensational magnitude, and several journalists and photographers traveled down specially from London in search of material. Rimmington himself came down from Scotland Yard with two of his shrewdest assistants, but as he acknowledged to me upon the third night after their arrival, the whole affair had been carried out with such amazing foresight that it seemed impossible to lay hold anywhere of a clew.

Janet and I stayed on at Kindersley Court for the last meet of the staghounds—a day which we are neither of us likely ever to forget. We motored over to Exford, where our host had sent all his available horses two days before. Janet, Beatrice Kindersley and I were among those of the house party who rode.

Early in the afternoon we found ourselves on the fringe of the hunt, on the southern slope of Hawksley Down. Suddenly Beatrice, who had been looking over her shoulder, gave a little exclamation. A man, riding a dark bay horse, whom I had noticed once or twice always on the outskirts of the hunt, came round the side of a piled-up mass of stones and boulders and rode straight up to us.

I must confess that at first the incident possessed no significance for me. In his well cut and well-worn riding clothes, and possessing the assured seat of a practiced rider, there was nothing to distinguish this man from half a dozen of Lord Kindersley's neighbors with whom we had exchanged greetings during the day. It was not, in fact, until he suddenly wheeled his horse round to within a yard or two of us, and I saw something glitter in his right hand, that I realized who he was.

"Norman Greyes," he said, "I call an armistice for five minutes. You will admit," he added, glancing downwards at his right hand, "that I am in a position to call the game."

"Let it be an armistice, Michael," I agreed. "What do you want with me?"

"With you, nothing," he answered. "I came to speak to Miss Kindersley."

"I find that my confederate misunderstood me the other night," he continued, "and that after all he took your jewelry from the table. I have stayed in the neighborhood to return it."

He leaned over and placed a sealed box in Beatrice's hand. I could have sworn that I saw her fingers clutch passionately at his as he drew away.

HE WHEELED HIS HORSE TO WITHIN A YARD OF US. I SAW SOMETHING GLITTER IN HIS HAND.

"I knew that it was a mistake," she said softly, looking across at him as though striving to call him back to her side. He kept his face, however, turned steadily away. His expression had changed. The old mocking smile was back upon his lips.

"Upon reflection, Janet," he continued, "especially when I considered the richness of our haul, I felt a certain impulse of distaste toward robbing you of your newly acquired splendors. Permit me."

HE handed her also a little packet. Then he backed his horse a few paces, but he still lingered, and I knew that he had something else to say.

"So our friend Rimmington has given up the chase and gone back to London," he observed. "Give him a hint from me some day. Tell him not to take it for granted that the first impulse of the malefactor is to place as great a distance as possible between himself and the scene of his misdemeanors."

"I will remember your message," I promised. "You realize, of course, that I shall report your being still in the neighborhood?"

"If you did not," was the cool reply, "the next few hours would be empty of interest to me. Even if you yourself take a hand in the game, Greyes, and I will do you the credit to admit that you are the cleverest of the lot, I promise you that I shall make my way to safety as easily as I shall canter across this moor."

He leaned suddenly toward me.

"Send the women on for a moment," he begged. "I have a word for you alone."

JANET turned her horse at once in obedience to my gesture. Beatrice, however, lingered. She was gazing across at my companion. I saw their eyes meet, and it seemed to me a strange thing that such a look should pass between those two. Then I saw Michael shake his head.

She turned and rode slowly after Janet, but reined in her horse scarcely twenty paces away. Michael rode up to my side. He had dropped his weapon back into the loose pocket of his riding-coat. He was at my mercy, and he knew it. Yet, rightly enough, he had no fear.

"Norman Greyes," he said, "this is the end of our duel, for I have finished with life as you and I understand life. Fate has made us enemies. Fate might more than once have given either of us the other's life. Those things are finished."

"You speak as though you were making a voluntary retirement—yet how can you hope to escape?" I asked him. "There is a price upon your head wherever you turn."

"I am not here to speak about myself," he answered indifferently. "I want a word with you about that girl."

"About Beatrice Kindersley?"

"Yes."

"What can you have to say about her?" I demanded, puzzled, although the memory of that look was still with me.

"Never mind. . . . You know life, Greyes. You know that the greatest of us are great because of our follies. That girl is the folly of my later life. There is a touch of romance in her, a sentiment— For God's sake, Greyes, don't sit and look at me like a graven image! Be a human being and say that you understand."

I remembered that look, and I nodded. "I understand," I said. "Go on."

"Tell her, then, for the love of heaven, who and what I am. Tell her that I have wives living, women whom I have deceived in every quarter of the globe. Tell her that a policeman's hand upon my shoulder would mean the gallows in England or the electric chair in America. Strip off the coverings. Show her the raw truth. Tell her that I am a criminal at heart from the sheer love of crime."

"I'll tell her what you say," I promised.

"Damn it, man!" he answered passionately, as he turned his head to windward for a moment and swung round his horse. "Tell her nothing from me; tell her from yourself! You know the truth, if any man does. Give her pain, of you must. Show her the ugly side. As man to man, Greyes, enemy to enemy, swear that you will do this."

"I swear," I answered.

He must have touched his horse with his whip, unseen by me, for the words had scarcely left my lips before he was galloping away, making for the loneliest and bleakest part of the moor. I heard a stifled cry from Beatrice, a cry that was almost a sob.

Michael Takes Up the Story

I LUNCHED one Sunday morning at the Cafe de Paris with my friend Gaston Lefevre, the well-known insurance agent of the Rue Scribe—a luncheon specially planned to celebrate the winding-up of one of the greatest coups of our partnership.

"You must now be a very wealthy man, my friend," Lefevre said to me a trifle enviously.

"I have enough," I answered. "As a matter of fact, that is one of the reasons why I have decided to levy no more contributions upon the fools of the world."

"You are not going to retire?" Lefevre cried in a tone of alarm.

"Absolutely," I assured him. "I have burned all my boats in England, destroyed all ciphers, sealed up my secret places of refuge and said goodby to all my friends."

PITTSBURGH MAN ENDORSES DR. THACHER'S MEDICINE

Stomach Troubles, Dizzy Spells and Rheumatism of Six Years Standing All Disappear After Taking Dr. Thacher's Liver & Blood Syrup, Says Simon Herzog.

Almost everybody in Pittsburgh and vicinity knows Simon A. Herzog, manager of the Riverside Sales Stables, who lives at 1813 Locust street. For six years, Mr. Herzog says, he suffered terribly from rheumatism and indigestion, but has been completely relieved by Dr. Thacher's Liver & Blood Syrup. In telling, the other day, of his remarkable experience with this splendid tonic, Mr. Herzog said:

"My stomach was in such an awful condition that I could hardly eat a thing that didn't sour and bloat me up with gas and make me miserable. Dizzy spells would come, my back would ache fit to kill and I was so nervous I would lie awake half the night trying to get a little sleep. Then rheumatism in my left shoulder was so bad I couldn't raise my arm to my head.

"One of my friends recommended Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup and just there bottles put an end to my troubles. I never suffer a bot of pain or distress of any kind, why, I feel as lively as a young colt turned loose in a new pasture. I have told all my men to take this tonic for I know it will build them up and give them "pep."

Dr Thacher's Liver and blood Syrup is sold in Clearfield by Stewart Drug Company.

HOW TO SLEEP ON A BARE FLOOR

IT is more a matter of SLEEP, than of bed or board

Some people can sleep sitting up, standing up, even while walking.

Many people can't sleep in the softest of downy beds, and all of us suffer occasionally from nerve-racking, wearing, tiring wakefulness at night.

There is always a reason for sleeplessness. Usually, it is a "sour" stomach, a liver that has "lain down" on the job, congested bowels, or biliousness.

Then, just before retiring, take Beecham's Pills. They soothe an uneasy stomach, encourage the organs of digestion and elimination to natural activity, and assure restful sleep no matter what!

Lubricating Engineers

frequently reduce power, maintenance and lubricating costs. Your plant surveyed without cost or obligation.

On Main Street, Everytown, are thousands of horse power. Even one hundred cars of 50 horse power each represent a colossal power plant costing a fortune. A great percentage of this power is wasted and much of the original investment squandered because of indifference to the value of perfect lubrication.

John Smith's little manufacturing plant, also on Main Street, is only 10 horse power. His engine lasts him a lifetime because, being his bread and butter, he maintains real lubrication. Nothing is too good for his 10 horse power costing two or three hundred dollars but for the auto of fifty horsepower costing two or three thousand, anything will do apparently.

Your answer should be "I use Waverly, All Pennsylvania Motor Oil, acknowledgedly the best obtainable. My car will be in perfect condition while others are junked. I get more power, have less repairs and treat my motor like the splendid piece of mechanism it was designed to be. The best is the cheapest."
